FIENDISH DEEDS OF NIGHT RIDERS

Reign of Terror Existed in Tennessee Prior to Murder of Captain Ranken.

DETAILS OF MANY RAIDS

WOMAN WITNESS AFRAID TO LEAVE COURT ROOM ALONE.

Union City, Tenn., Dec. 22.—When Mrs. Emma Jackson, one of the state's witnesses this afternoon in the night riders' trial, was excused from the stand, she turned to Judge Jones and said: "I will not leave the court room without armed protection. I know these men."

Mrs. Jackson told a vivid story of several visits of the riders, corroborating Fred Fehring's testimony in many details, as did other witnesses, and identified by name at least twenty-seven members of the band.

She was followed on the stand by her daughter, Miss Dora Jackson, 18 years of age, who corroborated her mother's story. The last witness of the day was Will Russell, another alleged night rider, who has turned state's evidence. Russell came to Union City after the Ranken killing and made a confession. He was trembling with fear and could hardly raise his voice above a whisper.

Russell is under constant guard, but believes that he will be killed in spite of these precautions. Russell's story was practically the same as that told by Fehring, and corroborated in every essential detail.

Guard of Soldiers.

The prisoners were brought into court handcuffed in pairs, with a detail of two soldiers for each pair. The soldiers with rifles halted at the court room door and other soldiers armed with revolvers met the prisoners at the threshold and escorted them to the bar.

Judge Shaw was the first witness. He was the proprietor of a store near Reelfoot lake. The riders forced him to give them oil to pour on the fish docks when they were burned and later whipped him when he tried to go before the grand jury.

Shaw said the night riders were mother hubbards and black masks, and tried to disguise their voices by talking in false tones. When Shaw was summoned before the grand jury he tried to slip into town at night.

Whipping or Hanging.

The riders caught him and threatened to kill him. Finally they gave him his choice of a whipping or hanging. He told them he was not anxious to endure either, but if he had to make a choice he would prefer the whipping. He got it. After the riders whipped him they told him to run.

"Did you run?" inquired the court.

"You oughter have seen me," retorted the witness.

Martin Leonard, another farmer near Reelfoot lake, was visited by the riders and given five days to move, under penalty of being hanged. Asked if he moved he casually observed that he was still alive, but his house was burned.

Cloud of Witnesses.

Witness after witness told of visitations, but there was no effort made to connect the riders with the murder of Captain Ranken. The riders forced him to give them oil to pour on the fish docks when they were burned and later whipped him when he tried to go before the grand jury.

"About 200, I reckon the woods were full of them," she replied.

The purpose of the state is to show the reign of terror in the Reelfoot district inaugurated by the riders and prove that the murder of Captain Ranken was only an instance of a gigantic conspiracy.

This afternoon witnesses continued the corroboration of Fehring's confession, detail by detail, raid by raid. Old man Fagan cleared up the mystery and his name. It is Harvey. He was taken out and whipped. He did not know what he was whipped with, but it felt powerful like a piece of leather.

Story of Mrs. Jackson.

The day the soldiers arrived, Garrett Johnson, one of the eight defendants, drove with him to Camp Nemo. As they passed a little cottage, the soldiers saw the prisoner, threw up her arms and screamed:

"Now, thank God, I can tell what I know."

She was taken, under guard, to Union City, for her own protection. The woman was Mrs. Emma Jackson, and she was called to the stand this afternoon. The riders came to her home, forced her to dress and accompany them to her father's, wife her husband and daughter. They ordered her to kill some dogs she owned, and burned her father's house. She identified Garrett Johnson as the leader.

Her Father Whipped.

The riders came back two nights later, forced her to go to her father's half-cabin, and said there had been some talking done. They whipped her father and then her sisters. She heard her sister's appeal for help and began to scream, whereupon they threatened to whip her. Again she recognized Garrett Johnson and several others.

A third time they called to force her to get rid of her sister's little child because the latter had quarreled with another neighbor's child. They told Mrs. Jackson that if they had to come again they would whip her.

A fourth time they came to whip her father because he testified before the grand jury. On the last visit Garrett Johnson asked Mrs. Jackson if she had talked. She replied:

"No, Mr. Johnson, I have not."

"If you were a man," Johnson retorted, "I'd blow your brains out. We'll hang you if you talk."

The Stomach Does Not Cause Dyspepsia

Neither Will It Cure It Because the Lack of Gastric Juices Prohibit Relief.

The stomach is a strong, powerful organ, which is composed of muscles of great strength. It is filled during digestion with gastric juices which, when the stomach, extending and compressing the food, dissolve it and separate the nourishment from the waste matter. If, however, these gastric juices are lacking, the stomach is not capable of digesting its food because it has not the tools with which to work successfully.

The gastric juices when in a perfect state do away with all foul odors, fermentation and decay, reduce the food to a disintegrated mass and the stomach then presses it into the intestines, where another form of digestion takes place. Then the intestines take from this mass of food all that is nourishing and give it to the blood. The waste matter is thrown from the system.

If, instead of nourishment, the intestines receive impure deposits combined with a poisonous and imperfect gastric juice, it can be readily seen that they must turn such imperfect nourishment into the blood. The blood then being unable to give each part of the body that which it requires, becomes impoverished and disease is spread broadcast.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets correct such a condition at once. If the gastric juices are lacking and the tablets are used, their work just the same. They build up the elements in the juice which are lacking and remove those elements which cause disturbance.

Meat, grains, fluids, vegetables and delicacies, in fact, each portion of a large meal, have been placed in a glass vial and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have digested them to a perfect fluid just as a healthy stomach would do.

A large, complex, hearty meal holds no terrors for a dyspeptic if Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are used. Abnormal eating, late dinners, rich foods cause ill effects to the stomach, but when Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are used one may eat when and what one will without danger of dyspepsia or discomfort.

Forty thousand physicians endorse and prescribe Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and every druggist carries them in stock, price 50c. Send us your name and address and we will send you at once by mail a sample package free. Address: F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

CASTRO'S RULE IN VENEZUELA ENDED AT LAST

part of a few persons who called themselves intimate friends of General Castro. Not only did these persons block the carrying out by me of my legal duties, but they stooped to conspiracy and elaborated a diabolical plot against my life.

Conspiracy Crushed.

"This conspiracy was crushed yesterday, when I personally faced the plotters and imprisoned them."

"By so doing I saved more than my personal existence; I maintained the many prestige of the chief magistracy of the public which is my ambition to convert into a fountain of good for all Venezuelans."

"I have constituted a cabinet representing the public opinion of Venezuela, and with the collaboration of my ministers I intend to enforce the constitutional guarantees of the republic. I will not tolerate the various states of the Venezuelan republic; to protect local industries against excessive manipulation; to find a decorous and pacific solution of our international disputes; to live at peace and harmony at home and abroad, and to renounce the law alone to hold undisputed sovereignty throughout the land."

Rebellion Possible.

The change of ministry was effected and made known after the arrival of 1,500 soldiers from the interior who are loyal to Gomez.

There is much military activity everywhere, and troops are being recruited and armed with energy in the belief that the men in the interior loyal to Castro will fight.

Castro Decree Revoked.

Willemstad, Dec. 22.—The new Venezuelan administration has revoked the decree prohibiting the transshipment at Willemstad of goods destined for Venezuelan ports. This revocation is regarded by well informed persons as practically the settlement of the dispute between the governments of Venezuela and Holland.

The measure in question has been the principal difficulty in the strained relations between Holland and Venezuela. The deduction from the latest news received here from Caracas—the resignation of the Castro cabinet—is that the reign of President Castro in Venezuela is over.

Opinion in Washington.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The common impression in Washington is that events in Venezuela are moving toward a better understanding between that country and the United States. Whether this will be reached with the re-formed government, headed by Vice President Gomez, in the cabinet of which the Castro element has been eliminated, or with an entirely new administration it is impossible to say.

President Gomez's views that the foreign policy of the Castro administration regarding the United States and Holland was ill-advised form an important element in the situation.

It would take the battleship Maine a week to reach Venezuela. It is still impossible to obtain any official statement as to her destination. Similar reticence pertains to the movements of the gunboat Dolphin and the cruiser, Des Moines, which have been in Haytian waters, but which a dispatch from Port au Prince says are going to Curacao. With these vessels at or near the Venezuelan coast, the United States would be ready for eventualities.
